

The Euro-Mediterranean University of Fez (UEMF) launches a tender for the selection of the architectural firm

With the aim to become a unique centre of excellence, UEMF will welcome approximately 6000 students from across the region and will offer a wide range of programmes, from humanities and social sciences, to engineering.

Barcelona, 21 February, 2014. The Euro-Mediterranean University of Fez launched a tender for the selection of the architectural firm responsible for the design and the monitoring of the construction of the 107000 m2 campus. The tender opening session will take place on 5 March 2014 at 10h00 AM, at the UEMF headquarters in Rabat.

UEMF will stand as a new and unique regional campus contributing to promote dialogue, cultural exchange and cooperation in higher education and research between both rims of the Mediterranean.

This innovative Euro-Mediterranean approach will be reflected not only in the diversity of nationalities of the students, professors, researchers and non-academic staff, but also in the language and contents of the programmes, which will focus on topics with important impact on the integrated development of the region.

The construction of the University Campus is due to begin in August 2014 with the objective of completing the first building in August 2015. In September 2015, the university will be in a position to welcome 165 students.
