25th Anniversary Campaign Information and Communication KIT

#25BCNProcess

The Mediterranean region has largely contributed to the promotion of coexistence of cultures and religions in history. Between both the northern and southern shores, communities and cultures have always exchanged ideas, trade and learning together. This shared history has forged the creation of robust networks and our region has evolved with its characteristic diversity. The Barcelona Process was launched in 1995 with the aim of strengthening such relations between Europe and the Southern and Eastern Mediterranean countries. This expression of good faith and the recognition that closer ties were in everyone's interest would later lead to the creation of the Union for the Mediterranean (UfM).

Today, there are hundreds of positive initiatives that serve as examples of this commitment in action.

From large scale international projects to local collaboration initiatives, a consolidated network of cooperation has gradually developed and directly impacted the lives of millions of citizens. This communication kit provides materials for UfM Member States and partners to share and participate in the campaign. All the information and branded resources are available on the anniversary's web page to download.

Join us in reaffirming our shared commitment to Euro-Mediterranean dialogue and cooperation.
